ORGANIZATIONS

Modern warfare is changing. This is nothing new to America's Airmen, whose heritage spans and embraces change and whose culture embodies courage and innovation for America. We are ensuring a lean, lethal and agile Air Force for America. We are building and posturing our force structure to meet future threats emerging on the dynamic world stage, and we are strengthening the interdependent joint team.

— Secretary of the Air Force Michael W. Wynne

Presentation to the Senate Armed Services Committee on the fiscal 2008 Air Force Posture, March 20, 2007

Commander: Gen. John D. W. Corley Headquarters: Langley AFB, Va.

Command Chief Master Sgt.: Chief Master Sgt. Stephen C. Sullens

Mission

Provides the primary force of combat airpower to America's warfighting commands. To support global implementation of the national security strategy, the command operates fighter, bomber, reconnaissance, battle-management and electronic-combat aircraft. It also provides command, control, communications and intelligence systems and conducts global information operations.

Responsibilities

Organizes, trains, equips and maintains combat-ready forces for rapid deployment and employment while ensuring strategic air defense forces are ready to meet the challenges of peacetime air sovereignty and wartime air defense. Numbered air forces provide air component to U.S. Central and Southern commands with the command headquarters serving as the air component to U.S. Northern and Joint Forces commands. Augments forces to U.S. European, Pacific and strategic commands.

Delivers trained and ready Airmen with unrivaled space capabilities to defend America. Its vision is to be the acknowledged experts and leaders in fielding, launching and employing space power for the 21st century. The command's four strategic priorities are: Preserve and expand its ability to deliver space effects to the joint fight; provide safe and secure strategic deterrence; develop, field and sustain dominant space capabilities on time and on cost; and attract, develop and retain people with the expertise necessary to meet the challenges of the future.

Responsibilities

Provides the land-based intercontinental ballistic missile portion of the nation's strategic nuclear deterrent forces. Places high-value satellites in space with a variety of expendable launch systems and operates them to provide space capabilities to support combatant commanders around the clock. Provides navigation, communications, ballistic missile warning and intelligence warfighting support.
